Call for essays on possible intersections (and discrepancies) between and among post-colonial and queer theories for a book I am editing. Interdisciplinary approaches are welcome. To be most useful, submissions should be between 5000 and 6000 words, and reach me by May 31, 1998. Send to: John C. Hawley, Department of English, Santa Clara University, Santa Clara, CA 95053. Phone: (408) 554-4956. E-mail: JHawley@mailer.scsu.edu.

A committee comprised of graduate students from Temple University and the University of Pennsylvania is soliciting papers for a one-day conference to be held at Temple University, Saturday, October 24, 1998. We welcome essays from graduate students and activists that examine the history, ideologies, and politics of African Americans within the old and new left and progressive organizations during the twentieth century. Submission deadline: June 1, 1998. Please send a one-page abstract and a writing sample of a previous paper to: Erik McDuffie, Gladfelter Hall, 9th Floor, 12th and Berks Streets, Temple University, Philadelphia, PA 19122. For further information, phone: (215) 726-4294. E-mail: (Erik McDuffie): emcduffi@astro.temple.edu or (David Greason): wgreason@astro.temple.edu.

Iowa State University of Science and Technology announces an interdisciplinary conference, "Civic Discourse in a Global Community: Creating Cross-Cultural Connections," to be held October 2-3, 1998. Papers should relate to the general theme. Of particular interest will be papers that explore how intersections of gender, race, ethnicity, and class affect civic discourse, public policy and political processes in the U.S. and abroad. Submissions should be postmarked or faxed by July 1, 1998 and consist of 800 words or less. Abstracts should describe the main focus of the paper and methodology with references; a cover page with title, complete name of all authors, and mailing addresses where they can be reached in August 1998; and a current CV of all authors. Final papers due September 1, 1998. Send to: Dr. Dianne Bystrom, Director, Carrie Chapman Catt Center for Women and Politics, 309 Carrie Chapman Catt Hall, Ames, Iowa 50011-1305. Fax: (515) 294-3741.

The Society of Research on African Cultures is calling for papers for "Images of Africa: Stereotypes and Realities," a conference which will explore the history of western attempts to categorize the "self" and the "other" in terms of a hierarchy of superiority versus inferiority. By exploring the history of Western thoughts and ideas, and how these came to construct the definition of Africa as we "know" it and have known it over the centuries, we can begin to understand African civilizations better and give them their due place in history. Abstracts should be 300 words or less, and be sent by mail to Dr. Daniel Mengara, SORAC, Department of French, Monclair State University, Upper Montclair, NJ 07043. Talks will be limited to 20 minutes, followed by a 10-minute question period. Deadlines for submission of abstracts, proposals for panels on special topics, and suggestions for chairs of sessions must be postmarked on or before July 15, 1998. For further information, visit the web site: http://chss2.monclair.edu/sorac. E-mail info: garson@saturn.montclair.edu. Phone: (973) 653-7516.

The Journal of Women and Minorities in Science and Engineering is now welcoming submissions for Volume 5, 1999. We publish original, peer-reviewed papers that report innovative ideas and programs, scientific studies, and formulation of concepts related to education, recruitment and retention of underrepresented groups in science and engineering. Subjects can include: emerging challenges of current qualitative or quantitative research; historical investigations of how minority status impacts science and engineering; original theoretical or conceptual analyses of science from feminist, racial, and ethnic perspectives; reviews of literature to help develop new ideas and directions for future research; explorations of feminist teaching methods, minority student/white teacher interactions; and cultural phenomena that affect the classroom climate. Inquiries and submissions, or to submit a CV if you are interested in reviewing papers for the journal, please contact: Editorial Assistant, Journal of Women and Minorities in Science and Engineering, Center for Interdisciplinary Studies, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, Blacksburg, VA 24061-0227. Phone: (540) 231-6296. Fax: (540) 231-7013. E-mail: JRLWMSPE@VT.EDU WWW.CIS.EDU/SAGE/JOURNAL.

Feminist Studies invites submissions for its Feminist Studies Award which will honor the best essay submitted to the journal by a graduate student on any aspect of feminist scholarship. The winner will be published in Feminist Studies and will be awarded a prize of $500.00. For twenty-five years, Feminist Studies has embraced the variety and richness of women's studies and the significance of interdisciplinary scholarship in uncovering the issues that affect women's lives. The submission guidelines: paper should be a maximum of 10,000 words (including footnotes), that is, a total of 40 double-spaced pages; please send three copies and an abstract. The applicant must identify her or his affiliation by department, school and status and cannot have received her or his terminal degree before May 1998. Please send all materials to FSA, Feminist Studies, c/o the Department of Women's Studies, Woods Hall 2101, University of Maryland, College Park, Md. 20742. Deadline: August 15, 1998.

Visiting Member Awards for 1999-2000 in the School of Social Science. Institute For Advanced Study, Princeton, NJ. The School of Social Science each year invites as Members some fifteen to eighteen visiting scholars who constitute a genuinely interdisciplinary and international group. A doctorate is required, and memberships are awarded at the junior and senior levels. The theme for 1999-2000 is "the universalism of human rights". What is the history of the idea that human rights are universal rights? What is the history of political theories that make
