General Education at Bucknell

Bucknell University is uniquely suited to support graduate work at the master’s degree level in a small and select number of fields. The attractive scale of the university, its favorable student-faculty ratio, and the faculty’s commitment to the role of teacher-scholar combine to provide abundant opportunities for close student-faculty collaboration in research. The university’s excellent facilities offer the kind of support that graduate students expect and require. And the open and friendly nature of the university and Lewisburg communities supplies a supportive and attractive environment for graduate work. We value highly the contribution of our graduate students to the life of the university, and we believe we offer to them the kind of academic opportunities that will ensure their success in graduate education beyond the master’s level or in the immediate pursuit of professional careers.

Non-Discrimination Policy

Bucknell University admits students of any race, color, national and ethnic origin, religion, or gender to all the rights, privileges, programs and activities generally accorded or made available to students at Bucknell, and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, handicap, national and ethnic origin, or religion in the administration of its educational policies, admissions policies, scholarship and loan programs, and athletic and other University-administered programs. It complies fully with the prohibitions against discrimination on the basis of sex contained in Title IX of the Educational Amendments of 1972. In employment of both students and staff, Bucknell is an Affirmative Action and Equal Opportunity Employer.

The provisions of this prospectus are not to be regarded as an irrevocable contract between the student and the University. The University reserves the right to change any provisions or requirement at any time within the student’s term of residence. In addition to this prospectus, prospective students should read the latest Bucknell Graduate Studies Catalogue, copies of which are available from the Office of Graduate Studies.

Introduction

This Prospectus has been developed to answer many of the questions raised by prospective students interested in the College Student Personnel program at Bucknell. While a serious attempt has been made to develop this Prospectus in a comprehensive and accurate manner, it is quite possible that further interpretation of certain points will be needed. Please consult the “For Further Information” section of the Prospectus and write to or telephone the appropriate University Office if you need additional information.

Also, it is very important that all applicants to the program carefully review the current Graduate Studies Catalogue as well as this Prospectus. Copies of the Graduate Studies Catalogue may be requested from the Office of Graduate Studies.
Rationale for the College Student Personnel Program

Bucknell University offers a Master of Science in Education, with a major in College Student Personnel. The purpose of the degree program is to prepare aspiring student affairs professionals for entry-level positions in residence life, student activities, career services, admissions, financial aid, and various other areas of practice. The program is also designed to prepare those aspiring to faculty and upper-level administrative positions in academe for doctoral level study in higher education administration.

The Department of Education, in cooperation with the Division of Student Affairs, aims to prepare theory-based practitioners, who are equipped with the foundational knowledge and habits of mind necessary to meet the demands facing American higher education, both today and in the future. A comprehensive program of graduate coursework provides a theoretical understanding of the processes of learning and development that occur in later adolescence and throughout adulthood, as well as the social, cultural, and organizational contexts in which these processes take place. This program of courses also introduces skills of intervention and inquiry, which are further refined through the completion of multiple internship experiences and a major scholarly project.

Mission Statement

The Education Department works to prepare students for prominent roles as public intellectuals. We seek to cultivate citizens who are broadly educated, thoughtful, and committed to lifelong learning as a means to better themselves and society. Our blend of social sciences and professional preparation coursework is theoretically grounded and presents educational issues within social contexts that are diverse and evolving. Graduates will use their capacity for self-reflection and ethical reasoning to respond creatively to challenges encountered in their personal and professional lives.

The Course System and Academic Credit

Bucknell operates on a course system rather than a credit system. Each full course, designated by a 1.0 in transcripts and other materials, is the equivalent of four semester credit hours in a credit system.

College Student Personnel Program

The College Student Personnel Program generally requires nine traditional graduate courses, two internships, and a thesis or treatise for the MSED degree.

1. Students must complete and pass all of the following courses:

   EDUC 612: Counseling Techniques
   EDUC 618: Multiculturalism and Education
   ECUC 619: Group Processes
   EDUC 650: Higher Education in the United States
   EDUC 651: Learning and Development in Post-Secondary Education
   EDUC 697: College Student Personnel Internship (Students must enroll for two semesters, completing 150 hours in each of two placements. Students holding relevant graduate assistantships or full-time professional positions may substitute an elective for one of the required internships.)

EDUC 698: Student Affairs Programs in Higher Education

2. Students must complete and pass one of the following courses:
   EDUC 662: Quantitative Research Methods
   EDUC 664: Qualitative Methods in Education

3. Students must satisfactorily complete one of the following courses:
   EDUC 680: Thesis
   EDUC 681: Master’s Treatise

4. Students must choose two or more elective courses approved by their academic advisors. It is strongly recommended that these courses include the following:
   SOCI 604: Public Service and Non Profit Organizations

5. All students must pass a comprehensive examination, consisting of questions pertaining to college student personnel and education in general. Students choosing the option of a master’s treatise will complete a written comprehensive examination. For those choosing the thesis option, an oral examination focusing primarily on the student’s research will substitute for the written examination.

Theses

The Bucknell Writing Center serves graduate students as well as faculty, staff, and undergraduates. Writing tutors work with individuals at any stage of the writing process – planning, drafting, or revising. They help with such varied pieces as lab reports, term papers, master’s theses, and cover letters. Tutors respond to ideas and written drafts, telling the writer where ideas do not seem clear or logical and offering strategies for revision. They also can help students prepare for oral examinations.

Thesis writers often work closely with Writing Center staff, making a series of appointments to talk over their ideas, discuss ways to organize their research, and read through drafts of their theses, section by section. The writing tutor can point out where readers need more information and where connections are unclear. Although Writing Center tutors may not be familiar with the technicalities of a given-discipline, they can show writers methods of making the writing clearer and thus more effective.

The Writing Center is located in Roberts Hall and may be reached at 577-3141. Detailed information is available at the Writing Center’s web site http://www.bucknell.edu/WritingCenter/.

Requirements for Admission
Applicants must hold from an accredited American college or university a bachelor’s degree comparable to one offered by Bucknell, or certification of corresponding achievement from a foreign institution. A final official transcript, verifying final grades and conferral of the baccalaureate degree, must be filed with the registrar before acceptance to graduate standing can be confirmed and finalized.

1. Applicants must have a minimum undergraduate grade point average of 3.0 (on a scale of A=4.0) in coursework comparable to that offered at Bucknell and a grade point average of 3.0 in the undergraduate major.
2. All applicants for admission must submit their scores on the Graduate Record Examination general test and a subject test (if required by department). The minimum score on the general test is 1000 in the original format or the equivalent in the revised format.

Admission to the Program

Admission to graduate Study at Bucknell is a pre-requisite for admission to any graduate program. Admission to graduate study is a responsibility of the Office of Graduate Studies, an office separate and distinct from the Department of Education. The Graduate Office makes offers of graduate admission based upon recommendation by the Department of Education.

Applications for graduate study and other related materials may be obtained from:

Dr. James Rice, Dean of Graduate Studies
Office of Graduate Studies
Bucknell University
Marts Hall
Lewisburg, PA 17837
Phone: 570-577-1304

The “Application for Admission” is available on the Graduate Studies website at www.bucknell.edu/x1751.xml.

Students are encouraged to apply early, as a limited number of openings are available in each year’s entering class. Candidates who are planning to apply for financial aid should complete their applications in advance of February 1.

Expenses and Financial Aid

During the University’s academic year, tuition is charged at the rate of $4,955 per course (2012-13 academic year). One course credit equals four credit hours. The maximum number of course credits for which a student may register in a semester is four. During the summer session students may enroll for a total of two full course credits or the equivalent.
Financial assistance is available to well-qualified degree candidates who assist faculty and staff, or who qualify for tuition scholarships granted by the university. The deadline for financial aid applications is February 1. Financial aid is awarded on a yearly basis and is normally limited to two years. Preference is given to fulltime students.

There are two types of merit based financial aid available through the University. To apply for this financial aid, the Graduate Studies Financial Aid form must be returned with your application.

- Graduate Assistantship - includes a stipend and tuition remission and is available in various academic and administrative departments on campus.
- Tuition Scholarship - includes tuition remission only and is offered by the Education Department.

Information concerning loans and other federal support can be obtained from the Financial Aid Office.

Continuation of financial aid in the form of tuition scholarships is contingent upon the maintenance of an acceptable GPA (3.0). Continuation of financial aid in the form of a graduate assistantship into the second year of enrollment is contingent upon satisfactory performance of duties expected of a graduate assistant, including the maintenance of an acceptable GPA (3.0), and appropriate progress on the thesis project.

Information about summer school can be obtained by writing to the Dean of Summer School, Bucknell University.

University Requirements for Graduation

The unit of credit at Bucknell University is the course credit, which for transfer purposes is equivalent to four semester hours. Unless otherwise specified, a course listed in the catalog is equal to one course credit. A minimum of 12 course credits is required for graduation from the College Student Personnel program.

1. Courses with numbers at the 600-level are open to graduate students for graduate credit. Undergraduate students may register for the same course under the corresponding 300/400 number. In such courses graduate students are expected to perform at a significantly higher level and/or to submit additional assignments.

2. A minimum cumulative grade point average of 3.0 is required of graduate students for all work attempted and must be attained upon completion of courses on the student’s approved Program of Courses. No more than two courses of C or C+ work and no course with a grade of C- or below will be accepted toward the required number of courses for the master’s degree. In computing the cumulative grade point average and determining good academic standing, all coursework is considered. Any student who does not maintain the minimum grade point average of 3.0 is liable to be dismissed.

3. A thesis, treatise, or research/project report is required for all degrees and must be presented to the department at least three weeks before the last day of classes of the student’s final semester. A final approved copy of the thesis must be delivered to the Office of Graduate Studies for approval of format one week before the last day of classes of the student’s final semester. A final, approved, copy of the thesis must be submitted online to the University library, and one copy must be filed in the department. Normally the master’s essay, treatise, or project report is filed only in the department, unless otherwise required by the academic department, and a notice is sent to the Registrar’s Office. The dean of graduate studies must approve essays and treatises for formatting only if they are to be placed in the University library.

4. All departmental requirements for the master’s degree must be successfully completed and the results sent by the department chair to the registrar by the last day of classes of the student’s final semester. This includes final reports for all courses taken prior to the current semester for which grades I or IP were reported.

5. No course completed more than seven years before the degree is to be granted will be credited toward the master’s degree. All graduate courses carrying the grade of I or IP which have not been completed within a seven-year period will revert to the grade of W (withdraw).

6. All incomplete grades must be removed during the first three weeks after the close of the academic semester unless an extension is approved by the dean of graduate studies on the basis of special circumstances; all incomplete grades depending on laboratory work must be removed during the next semester in which the course is offered.

Application Deadlines

All master’s degree candidates must inform the registrar of their intended graduation date. Forms for this purpose are available from the Registrar’s Office. Please consult the Graduate Studies website for the deadlines for the Application for Graduation.
