Cornel West once remarked that the Age of Obama ended with the upheavals in Ferguson, MO. Starting with that thought, this presentation will explore just what the Age of Obama was, what happens when it comes to an end, and how this ending relates to the US presidential election of 2016. The key question will be this: what do we do when post-racial euphoria gives way to a post-civil rights politics of cynicism and corruption?

Paul C. Taylor is an associate professor of philosophy and African American studies at Pennsylvania State University, where he also serves as head of the department of African American studies and Associate Dean for Undergraduate Studies. Professor Taylor earned a BA in philosophy from Morehouse College, a Ph.D. in philosophy from Rutgers University, and an MPA (master in public administration) from Harvard’s Kennedy School of Government. He has provided commentary on race and politics for newspapers and radio shows on four continents, and has lectured at universities from Cape Town to Cornell. He is the author of Race: A Philosophical Introduction (Polity), Black is Beautiful: A Philosophy of Black Aesthetics (Blackwell), and On Obama (Routledge).

ALL ARE WELCOME!
Light refreshments provided.