Bucknell Institute for Public Policy Symposium
The Marcellus Shale: Development, Environment, and Community
Friday, April 16

3:00 PM Campus Theatre, Downtown Lewisburg
- Screening of Haynesville: A Nation’s Hunt for Energy -- a documentary film about the impact of the Haynesville Shale discovery in Louisiana. Filmmaker Gregory Kallenberg will introduce the film and take questions after the showing.

7:00 PM Keynote address Trout Auditorium, Vaughan Literature Building
- Introduction by David Myers – Bucknell Chief of Staff
- John Quigley – Acting Pennsylvania Secretary Department of Conservation and Natural Resources

Saturday, April 17

8:30 AM Welcome, Trout Auditorium, Vaughan Literature Building
- Mick Smyer – Bucknell Provost

8:45 AM Session 1, Trout Auditorium: Setting the Stage: The Marcellus Shale – Geology, Energy, and Development -- A review of the geological, geographical, and historical context of the Marcellus Shale and its potential as a bridge to clean energy.
- Molly Pritz ’10 – Bucknell University “The Hydraulic Fracturing of the Marcellus Shale and Some Potential Environmental Impacts on Central Pennsylvania”
- Kathryn Z. Klaber ’88 – President, Marcellus Shale Coalition
- Gene Yaw – State Senator, 23rd District

- John Dawes – Executive Director, Foundation for PA Watersheds
- Carl Kirby – Associate Professor, Geology Department, Bucknell University
- Dr. Jim Richenderfer – Acting Chief of the Water Resources Management (WRM) Division, Susquehanna River Basin Commission
1:15 PM Keynote Address Trout Auditorium
- Introduction by David Myers – Bucknell Chief of Staff
- John Hanger – Secretary, Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Protection

2:00 PM Session 3, Trout Auditorium: Economic Development and Community Impact -- A discussion focused on issues of taxation, labor force development, property rights, and concerns about economic boom and bust.
- Charles Abdalla – Penn State professor of agricultural and environmental economics.
- Will Delavan – Assistant Professor, Economics Department, Lebanon Valley College
- Teri Ooms – Executive Director, Institute for Public Policy and Economic Development, Wilkes-Barre, PA
- Simona Perry – Postdoctoral Scholar in GIS and Community Studies, Dickinson College

3:30 PM Closing Remarks
- David Myers – Bucknell Chief of Staff