Dear Bucknellian:

The evolution of ancient volcanic activity beneath the sea, sculpted by waves and wind over millennia, created the idyllic islands of Tahiti, Huahine, Fakarava, Rangiroa, Taha’a, Bora Bora and Moorea. Experience this unspoiled earthly paradise—majestic volcanic peaks rising up from emerald green jungles, chalk white atolls, pristine beaches and turquoise lagoons—that has beckoned explorers, travelers, artists and writers for centuries during this nine-night land and sea sojourn featuring the majestic Society Islands and Tuamotu Archipelago. Enjoy two nights in colorful Papeete, Tahiti, and seven nights aboard the Five-Star-Plus M.S. Paul Gauguin, specifically designed to cruise the crystal-clear aquamarine waters of the South Pacific, including the remote Tuamotu Archipelago, known for its incredible marine life and tremendous snorkeling. We invite you to join us for this splendid opportunity featuring round-trip air included from Los Angeles* and Early Booking Savings through July 24, 2015!

Cruise aboard the intimate, Five-Star-Plus, 166-Stateroom M.S. Paul Gauguin, which provides an unmatched small ship experience featuring impeccable service amidst the unparalleled beauty of the islands, atolls and motus of French Polynesia: Tahiti, the Society Islands and the Tuamotus. And, a whole host of complimentary features aboard ship are included: all onboard gratuities; complimentary alcoholic and nonalcoholic beverages served throughout the ship, including at every lunch and dinner, and replenished in your Suite or Stateroom throughout the cruise; complimentary watersports; and even complimentary personal butler service in Suite Category 1 and Stateroom Category 2.

Cultural enrichment abounds in the captivating natural environment of French Polynesia. During your stay in Tahiti, explore the west coast of the island and learn more about the history, environment and culture of Polynesia and admire the unique private collection in the Museum of Tahiti and Her Islands. An onboard naturalist will provide a variety of talks and demonstrations about the islands’ history and cultural heritage throughout the cruise. You can observe—and even snorkel and swim with—extraordinary marine life and breathe in the fresh fragrances of vanilla, gardenia and jasmine that delicately permeate the island air. This is the perfect time of year to enjoy the Five-Star-Plus M.S. Paul Gauguin cruising in its “home ports” amidst the mysterious, far-off islands of the South Pacific. Featuring air included from Los Angeles,* this program sells out quickly, so we encourage you to book now while space and Early Booking Savings are still available!

Huahine

Soaring peaks, lush rainforests, dazzling white beaches and ancient shrines distinguish this untouched paradise formed of two islands—Huahine-Nui and Huahine-Iti—separated by a deep sapphire blue bay and ringed by a coral atoll. The idyllic port of Fare lies nestled between the sea and a woodland of towering mape trees draped with sweet-scented vanilla vines. 16th century of locally quarried stone and dedicated to the Polynesian deities Tane and Oro.

Taha’a (Motu Mahana)
Idylically set across an azure lagoon to the north of Huahine, Taha’a is dominated by the profile of Mount Ohiri, named for Hiro, the Polynesian god of sailors and thieves. Today, two exotic enterprises provide the islanders’ livelihoods—the production of the world’s most flavorful vanilla beans and the farming of lustrous black pearls. Spend the day on the private South Pacific paradise of Motu Mahana, where you can swim, snorkel or kayak, and enjoy a traditional Polynesian feast on the island complemented by entertainment.

Bora Bora
Described as “the most beautiful island in the world” by author James A. Michener, Bora Bora is the proverbial vision of a South Seas paradise. Its distinctive black basalt peak is cloaked in a lush tropical forest and silhouetted against turquoise lagoon waters, where a coral reef and an outlying fringe of motu teem with multicolored fish. Bora Bora was settled by adventurous Polynesian mariners in the 10th century. The islanders have preserved the ways of their forebears and still wear the traditional colorfully hand-dyed pareo or sarong. In Bora Bora’s forested interior, villagers cultivate breadfruit, coconuts and taro and preserve the ancient ruins of stone marae, the legacy of ancestral Polynesian deities.

Widely known for its beauty, Bora Bora features tall peaks ideal for hiking and strikingly blue lagoons well-suited for snorkeling.
TUAMOTU ARCHIPELAGO

Kayaking and paddle boarding are available from M.S. PAUL GAUGUIN’s retractable watersports marina.

Moorea

Impressive temples evoke Moorea’s Polynesian heritage while European churches underscore its role as the center for 19th-century missionary activity in the Society Islands. Contemporary islanders continue the ways of their forefathers, farming pineapples and papayas and crafting fine works of art from seashells and indigenous wood. In Moorea’s village of Papetoai, a unique, octagonal-shaped church is the oldest European structure in the South Seas still in use.

The motu village of Tetamanu, the former capital of the Tuamotus, features a lovely Catholic church built entirely of coral, the first church constructed in the archipelago by European missionaries (1874). Near the village of Rotoava stands the Topaka Lighthouse, a picturesque 45-foot-tall coral stone turret.

INTERCONTINENTAL LE MOANA BORA BORA RESORT

Post-Program Option

Extend your sojourn in French Polynesia with two nights in a Five-Star seaside resort hotel on Bora Bora, providing an authentic Polynesian experience. This resort option includes breakfast daily and round-trip air between Tahiti and Bora Bora.

Look for the endangered green sea turtle that finds sanctuary in the waters of the South Pacific.

Fresh, vibrant flowers and fruit are an important part of the French Polynesian culture.

Rangiroa

The Tuamotus, Tahiti’s “strand of pearls” and the largest chain of islands in the world, are a remote, picture-perfect oasis of the South Seas where dozens of pristine coral atolls encircle stunning aqua lagoons. With more than 110 miles of tiny motus, each no more than three feet in elevation, Rangiroa—“vast sky” in the local language—offers immense, unobstructed vistas in every direction. Its seemingly endless, emerald green lagoon is the largest in the Tuamotus and the second largest in the world, a secluded natural aquarium that is particularly attractive to divers. The atoll also offers ideal snorkeling—observe the manta ray, the green sea turtle and the rare, endangered humphead wrasse—and an unusual pink sand beach.

Fakarava

The second largest of the Tuamotu atolls, Fakarava is designated a UNESCO Biosphere Reserve for its lagoon’s rich ecosystem of rare endemic birds, plants and crustaceans. In Fakarava’s two villages, the local pearl and coconut farmers actively participate in conservation efforts, as their livelihood depends on sustaining these natural resources.

Exotic beauty, turquoise waters, enchanting culture and a mystique all its own, Tahiti, "Queen of the Pacific," and her sister islands—Huahine, Taha'a, Bora Bora and Moorea—have beckoned visitors since Captain James Cook landed here in 1769. This tropical paradise has captivated explorers and mariners, artists and writers alike—Captain Cook returned twice more, H.M.S. Bounty's Fletcher Christian chose to remain for a time and Master Impressionist Paul Gauguin abandoned his family and career in France to embrace the seductive lifestyle of Polynesia. The neighboring Tuamotu Archipelago—which translates to "Distant Islands"—was first spotted by famed Portuguese explorer Ferdinand Magellan during his circumglobal voyage in 1521.

Contemporary Tahitian society was born of a unique blend of peoples originating in Southeast Asia. Among the finest sailors in the world, they used the sun, stars, ocean tides and flight patterns of birds to make their way across the sea around 2000 B.C. From the Marquesas Islands, first settled by mariners from Samoa, the Society Islands became inhabited shortly thereafter and more than 200 years after Magellan sailed past, in 1767, English navigator Captain Samuel Wallis became the first European to set foot on the island of Tahiti. In 1768, unaware that the English had already been there, French explorer Louis de Bougainville arrived on the island. In addition to English, French and Polynesian heritage, the Chinese also arrived in Tahiti during the late 19th century, furthering the diverse cultural blend of the island's inhabitants.

In keeping with the rich history of the South Pacific, aquacultural and agricultural preservation continue to encompass the everyday life and cultural traditions of these remote, unspoiled islands. Cultivation of Tahitian black pearls and their shells, vanilla bean farms and the coffee trade, copra (dried coconut) and shellfish are central industries and of great cultural importance here. To this day, these beguiling islands are synonymous with the world's romantic vision of the South Seas, and they await your discovery as you experience the true essence of Tahiti, the Society Islands and the Tuamotu Archipelago for yourself.
