Donor Statement
I, the donor (name) __________________ or the donor’s representative (name) __________________ hereby irrevocably donate and convey to Bucknell University, for the benefit of the Bertrand Library’s Special Collections/University Archives, legal and physical ownership to the property described in this Deed of Gift (“donated materials”), including all rights, title, and interest therein. I understand that these materials will be administered, preserved, and made accessible to researchers in accordance with all Special Collections/University Archives’ standards, policies, and practices in place now and in the future.

Description of donated materials (If necessary, please continue on a separate sheet.)

Terms of agreement
1. Special Collections/University Archives agrees to protect and preserve donated materials to the extent possible and consistent with its usual policies and practices. Bucknell University will not specifically or individually insure materials covered by this agreement. In the case of loss or damage of the materials by theft, fire, or other cause, Bucknell University assumes no responsibility or liability.

2. In accordance with Special Collections/University Archives’ standards, policies, and practices, the retention, physical location, cataloging, and preservation of the donated materials are at its discretion. Materials may be arranged or rearranged according to accepted archival principles and cataloging practices with the purpose of making them accessible to general users and researchers. Accessibility may include physical display and/or reproduction in any format, including digital representation on the World Wide Web in a manner that appropriately addresses copyright.

3. Unless specified and agreed to below by the donor and Bucknell University, access to donated materials will be unrestricted. The donated materials will be made freely accessible to Bucknell University faculty, staff, and students, and the general public, in accordance with the Special Collections/University Archives’ established guidelines and policies for the use of collections.

Restrictions: ____________________________

4. Within the limits of copyright and fair use, Special Collections/University Archives may reproduce donated materials, including digital representation, for the purposes of preservation, educational support, and research support.

5. Special Collections/University Archives reserves the right to discard or transfer donated materials that do not meet its collection scope and mission, duplicate material, or material that is in frail or fragile condition and deemed not worthy of the cost for conservation treatment. In the event the Special Collections/University Archives determines that the donated materials will be disposed of with no benefit, either in cash or in kind, to Bucknell University, please indicate your preferences below.

Intellectual property rights conveyance

Intellectual property rights include control of copyright, literary and artistic rights, or patents. Assigning intellectual property rights to Bucknell University allows researchers to examine and receive copies of specific items for personal research use and permits the University to fulfill requests to reproduce materials in publications and other media. Researchers will be advised that the laws of copyright regulates the use of copied and reproduced material limiting allowable use to only personal research or educational instruction. Approvals for publication and reproduction in any format require proper citation and attribution to the Bucknell University as controller of the intellectual property rights. Permission to publish will be granted on a case-by-case basis. The researcher will be responsible for obtaining permissions to publish copyrighted materials.

Please indicate on a separate page those donated materials, if any, for which you own the intellectual property rights and state the nature of that ownership (e.g. sole or joint owner, heir, literary executor, etc.). It is assumed that you do not own the intellectual property rights to any donated material not listed.
With regard to the donated materials, please indicate the nature of your intellectual property rights conveyance:

[ ] I irrevocably assign to Bucknell University any and all intellectual property rights I control with regard to these donated materials, subject to the limitations, if any, stated below.

[ ] I do not own intellectual property rights for any of the donated materials.

[ ] I wish to retain full ownership of all intellectual property rights for the donated material, but grant to Bucknell University non-exclusive rights to authorize reproduction and use of these materials for non-commercial research, scholarly, or other educational purposes.
