THE WAGES OF SIN

The Saturday afternoon feature of the program will be the presentation of scenes from Prime Minister U Nu’s play, “The Wages of Sin.” U Nu is not only a political leader and statesman, but also a mystic and poet. This play is a moralistic drama with a modern political background, and deals with the evils of communism. The plot centers around U Po Lone, Burmese Home Minister, whose vices make him unworthy of his position and a danger to his party and to democratic government in his country.

The scenes will be presented by The East Carolina College Playhouse, Greenville, North Carolina. The Director Dr. J. A. Withey, while on a Fulbright in Burma last year, secured the permission of the Prime Minister to present his play to American audiences, and the premier of the play is given in North Carolina a week before the Burma-Bucknell presentation. The premier will be witnessed by His Excellency, the Ambassador, and other high officials. Technical advisor to the play is Daw Mya Sein, well known to Bucknell friends.

Dr. Withey will bring part of his cast from North Carolina for the presentations, and be guests of the University for the week-end.

THE BURMA-BUCKNELL STORY

Bucknell's connections with Burma date back to the founding of our University. Eugenio Kincaid, who had been in the first class at Madison (now Colgate) University, came to the Susquehanna Valley as a pioneer missionary in 1826. In 1830 he sailed for Burma to work with Adoniram Judson. In 1846 he came back to Milton for health reasons. Through his labors as financial agent and his own contribution of $200, which was a princely sum at that time, he assured the future of Bucknell University. This year the Baptists are celebrating Judson's 150th anniversary. U Ba Hmyin, who preached the opening sermon at the Third Assembly of the World Council of Churches in New Delhi, was in the first years of the Burma-Bucknell program one of the most faithful supporters. He was then teaching Burmese at Yale.

Maung Shawloo '64, great-grandson of the King of Mayawaddy, was the son of parents who were among the first converts of Adoniram Judson. By strange adventure he arrived at Bucknell in 1858 as the first "foreign student." He was also the first Burmese student to study in the United States. He was one of the first members of Phi Kappa Psi. Later he graduated from medical school; and at President Johnson's invitation, visited him at the White House. From President Johnson, Dr. Shawloo carried a personal message of greeting to King Mindon of Mandalay. Invited to come to the King's court, he chose rather to serve his home people in Moulmein, where he has become a legend. He died in 1929 at the age of 91.

Dr. U Ba Han, who will be our special lecturer March 5 to 9, is the father-in-law (by marriage) to U Ba Thein, Burmese student who died at Bucknell in 1925. Later Dr. Tasker visited the father in Rangoon.

In 1948, Burma received her independence from Britain after 124 years as a colony, and thereafter many Burmese came to the United States to study. It was in 1948 also that the first Burma-Bucknell Weekend was held at the suggestion of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Rickard '23 and Miss Helen Hunt, daughter of our former president, Emory Hunt, for whom Hunt Hall was named. The purpose of the first weekend was to meet with our friends from Burma, with whom we have had long ties. No one had the idea that the weekend would become an annual event; but because of the encouragement of the Burmese Embassy, the United States Department of State and students, we have continued the program. In past years the Ford Foundation, the Danforth Foundation, and the Asia Foundation have financially supported the weekend.

After the Tenth Anniversary it was thought that the weekend would be just a token observance, but no one was willing to have just a token weekend. The Burma-Bucknell Weekend is now becoming a tradition at Bucknell. The program is unique in this country. It has been endorsed by Secretaries of State and higher echelons of the United States Government as well as many noted Burmese.

U Win, former Burmese Ambassador to the United States, is Chairman of the Burma-Bucknell Committee in Rangoon. In Rangoon on the same Saturday that our weekend is being held, the Rangoon Committee is holding a reunion of Bucknellians and Burmese who have attended the weekend.

International cooperation and appreciation are concepts that may be partially realized through our participation in the Burma-Bucknell Weekend. We come together as students with a sincere interest in meeting new friends as well as strengthening old friendships. The desire to gain mutual understanding is the stimulant which gives this weekend importance for each of us. We are able to accept for ourselves the responsibilities involved in continuing friendly relations between the people of Burma and the people of the United States. We know that our aspirations towards the brotherhood of man are better realized in these few days. We hope that this will be an important weekend filled with the warmth that comes with friendship.

THE UNION OF BURMA

The present republic of Burma is organized as a federal union, called officially the Union of Burma.

LOCATION: Wedged between the sub-continents of India and China, the Union of Burma is located in the area that is known as the Southeast Asia. It is about the size of Texas, and it stretches from the high peaks of the Himalayas down to the waters of the Indian Ocean and the Adaman Sea. Mountain borders gave the Union long rugged frontiers with India and Pakistan on the northwest and with the People's Republic of China, Laos, and Thailkland on the east; down through the central plain comes a great river valley—the Irrawaddy. Except for hill and mountain areas, Burma is a tropically hot country. Rangoon is the capital city with more than a million population, and Mandalay is another large city located 400 miles north of Rangoon on the Irrawaddy. Burma has the lowest density of population in Asia and is a food-exporting country. Rice is the basic food and principal export.

PEOPLE, LANGUAGE, AND RELIGION: Burma is populated by brown-skinned people of Mongolid stock whose ancestors came from the interior of Asia at different times during the last 2000 years. Burma has many minority groups who inhabit the country and vary in language, dialect, and cultural patterns. Over three-fourths of the people are Burmese. Nearly all Burmese are Buddhists. Because of the Buddhist undertaking in the schools, the literacy rate of the Union of Burma is the highest in Southeast Asia.

HISTORICAL BACKGROUND: Burma was a kingdom until 1885, when she became a British colony. In 1948 Burma regained her independence. The Pagan Dynasty in the eleventh century was the height of Burma's glorious past. It was in this period that many splendid monuments and pagodas were built, some of which still stand intact today even after going through various kinds of destruction. Under British rule, the Burmese people were dominated and impressed by the colonialists. Saddened by this historical heritage Burma leads today the battle against imperialism throughout the world.

GOVERNMENT: Independent Burma has adopted a constitutional form of government and holds national elections for its parliament. Since securing independence, it has survived insurrections by local Communists, the Karen minority, and other dissident groups. In 1958 the Nationalist coalition of the Anti-Fascist People's Freedom League, which had governed for ten years, split into two groups; and Prime Minister U Nu resigned in favor of a "caretaker" government headed by General Ne Win, commander of the armed forces. This government held national elections in February, 1960; and U Nu's faction (The Union Party) won unanimously. U Nu is the Prime Minister of the Union today.

ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL DEVELOPMENT: The Union of Burma under the leadership of U Nu has attempted to plan and carry out a program for industrial expansion and improved social services, with the aim of converting the country into a Pyidanta (the welfare state). Present progress has been made in constructing new factories, hydro-electric dams, increasing health services, expanding schools, and economic and political stability. Like any young nation, Burma also has to contend with some very serious problems. Recovery from the war devastation is not altogether complete and will take many more years to come. It will take patience and understanding to maintain freedom and develop the far-reaching plans on the boards. While maintaining her neutrality, the Union of Burma hopes to achieve her Pyidanta with continuing internal security and national solidarity.
