To our Burmese Friends:

We welcome you most cordially to our campus for the Fifteenth Annual Burma-Bucknell Weekend.

All of us at the University cherish the warm and friendly relationship that has long existed between Burmese and Bucknell students — a relationship dating back over more than a century.

I join Tom Argust and our students in telling you how delighted we are to have you as our guests. We hope you will enjoy your visit and that you will find in this weekend a recognition of our common goals.

Sincerely yours,

Merle M. Odgers

STEVE ADDISS AND BILL CROFUT
PRESENT INTERNATIONAL SONGS
Saturday at 3 P. M.

Already popular in Burma, Addiss and Crofut made their spectacular American entrance last fall when entertaining the United Nations Delegates at the party tendered by the U. S. Mission and its chief, Adlai Stevenson.

Coming from Harvard and Allegheny, these two young Americans with excellent musical training, chose the medium of the folk song to which they have brought their own originality. This fall they concluded a popular world wide tour under the Department of State, and were singled out by Mr. Robert Kennedy for acclaim. Their repertoire includes songs in the languages of twenty or more nations. They have starred on the CBS show, "Calendar," and NBC's "Wide Wide World". They have their own album. They are using the proceeds of their concerts to help set up medical clinics in Kenya and in Nigeria.

"Rarely, in all the long history of show business, have any performers rocketed into the entertainment spotlight by employing as unlikely a springboard as the one that served to launch folk singers and instrumentalists Steve Addiss and Bill Crofut. Seldom, too, have any entertainers in the currently burgeoning folk field brought as rare a wealth of musical knowledge and training to their work as have both Addiss and Crofut."

SPEAKERS

DR. LEON WRIGHT, Howard University.

Recently, Dr. Wright received from the International Meditation Center, Rangoon a special certificate, authorizing him to teach Buddhism—a rather unusual citation for a westerner. Educated in Boston, A. B. (Phi Beta Kappa) and M. A. from Boston University; S. T. B. and Ph.D. from Harvard, he has won many awards, including Rosenwald Fellow, Hopkins Share (highest academic standing for seniors in Harvard Divinity School), General Education Board Fellow, Guggenheim Fellow, and Parapsychology Fellow. He is a member of many scholarly societies, and Associate Editor of "The Journal of Religious Thought". He has been professor of Languages at Morgan State College, Visiting Professor in New Testament Greek at the Protestant Episcopal Seminary (Virginia), a lecturer at American University, and is currently Professor of New Testament Language and Literature at Howard University, Washington, D. C. Serving in several national organizations, his two years 1955-1957 as Cultural Attache of the American Embassy in Rangoon, won for him various citations, and the friendship of Burmese scholars and students.
DR. JAMES F. GUYOT, Yale University.

Dr. Guyot is a graduate of Michigan State College. He subsequently took his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees at Yale University in Political Science, in the Southeast Asia Studies Program. He then went to Burma, attached to the Department of Commerce and Administrative Studies at the University of Rangoon. THE BURMA-BUCKNELL STORY

Bucknell's connections with Burma date back to the founding of our University. Eugenio Kincaid, who had been in the first class at Madison (now Colgate) University, came to the Susquehanna Valley as a pioneer missionary in 1826. In 1830 he sailed for Burma to work with Adoniram Judson. In 1846 he came back to Milton for health reasons. Through his labors as financial agent and his own contribution of $200, which was a princely sum at that time, he assured the future of Bucknell University. This year the Baptists are celebrating Judson's 151st anniversary. U Ba Hmyin, who preached the opening sermon at the Third Assembly of the World Council of Churches in New Delhi, was in the first years of the Burma-Bucknell program one of its most faithful supporters. He was then teaching Burmese at Yale.

Maung Shawloo '64, great grandson of the King of Mayawaddy, was the son of parents who were among the first converts of Adoniram Judson. By strange adventure he arrived at Bucknell in 1858 as the first "foreign student." He was also the first Burmese student to study in the United States. He was one of the first members of Phi Kappa Psi. Later he graduated from medical school; and at President Johnson's invitation, visited him at the White House. From President Johnson, Dr. Shawloo carried a personal message of greeting to King Mindon of Mandalay. Invited to come to the King's court, he chose rather to serve his home people in Moulmein, where he has become a legend. He died in 1929 at the age of 91.

In 1948, Burma received her independence from Britain after 124 years as a colony, and thereafter many Burmese came to the United States to study. It was in 1948 also that the first Burma-Bucknell Weekend was held at the suggestion of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Rickard '23 and Miss Helen Hunt, daughter of our former president, Emory Hunt, for whom Hunt Hall was named. The purpose of the first weekend was to meet with our friends from Burma, with whom we have had long ties. No one had the idea that the weekend would become an annual event; but because of the encouragement of the Burmese Embassy, the United States Department of State and students, we have continued the program. In past years the Ford Foundation, the Danforth Foundation, and the Asia Foundation have financially supported the weekend.

After the Tenth Anniversary it was thought that the weekend would be just a token observance, but no one was willing to have just a token weekend. The Burma-Bucknell Weekend is now becoming a tradition at Bucknell. The program is unique in this country. It has been endorsed by Secretaries of State and higher echelons of the United States Government as well as many noted Burmese.

International cooperation and appreciation are concepts that may be partially realized through our participation in the Burma-Bucknell Weekend. We come together as students with a sincere interest in meeting new friends as well as strengthening old friendships. The desire to gain mutual understanding is the stimulant which give this weekend importance for each of us. We are able to accept for ourselves the responsibilities involved in continuing friendly relations between the people of Burma and the people of the United States. We know that our aspirations towards the brotherhood of man are better realized in these few days. We hope that this will be an important weekend filled with the warmth that comes with friendship. At the same time our increasing knowledge of each other's culture becomes an important ingredient in understanding and cooperation.

THE UNION OF BURMA

The present republic of Burma is organized as a federal union, called officially the Union of Burma.

LOCATION: Wedged between the sub-continents of India and China, the Union of Burma is located in the area that is known as Southeast Asia. It is about the size of Texas, and it stretches from the high peaks of the Himalayas down to the waters of the Indian Ocean and the Adaman Sea. Mountain borders gave the Union long rugged frontiers with India and Pakistan on the northwest and with the People's Republic of China, Laos, and Thailand on the east; down through the central plain comes a great river valley—the Irrawaddy. Except for hill and mountain areas, Burma is a tropically hot country. Rangoon is the capital city with more than a million population, and Mandalay is another large city located 400 miles north of Rangoon on the Irrawaddy. Burma has the lowest density of population in Asia and is a food-exporting country. Rice is the basic food and principal export.

PEOPLE, LANGUAGE, AND RELIGION: Burma is populated by brown-skinned people of Mongoloid stock whose ancestors came from the interior of Asia at different times during the last 2000 years. Burma has many minority groups who inhabit the country and vary in language, dialect, and cultural patterns. Over three-fourths of the people are Burmese. Nearly all Burmese are Buddhists. Because of the Buddhist undertaking in the schools, the literacy rate of the Union of Burma is the highest in Southeast Asia.

HISTORICAL BACKGROUND: Burma was a kingdom until 1885, when she became a British colony. In 1948 Burma regained her independence. The Pagan Dynasty in the eleventh century was the height of Burma's glorious past. It was in this period that many splendid monuments and pagodas were built, some of which still stand intact today even after going through various kinds of destruction. Under British rule, the Burmese people were dominated and impressed by the colonialists. Saddened by this historical heritage Burma leads today the battle against imperialism throughout the world.

GOVERNMENT: Independent Burma has adopted a constitutional form of government and holds national elections for its parliament. Since securing independence, it has survived insurrections by local Communists, the Karen minority, and other dissident groups. In 1958 the Nationalist coalition of the Anti-Fascist People's Freedom League, which had governed for ten years, split into two groups; and Prime Minister U Nu resigned in favor of a "caretaker" government headed by General Ne Win, commander of the armed forces. This government held national elections in February, 1960; and U Nu's faction (The Union Party) won unanimously. U Nu became Prime Minister. However, since March 2, 1962, General Ne Win, as Chairman of the Revolutionary Council of the Union of Burma, has taken over the reins of the government, "in order to preserve the unity of the country and raise the standard of living and working conditions of the people of Burma."
